SIX INDICTED AT MUSKOGEE

Muskogee, Jan. 29.—Six indictments were returned to Judge John C. Pollock in the federal court room at 10 o'clock this morning, by the grand jury which has been in session at the federal jail for several days.

However, none of the indictments pertained to the Mott town lot suits. Four were for conspiracy to defraud the government and two were for violation of the United States liquor laws.

On the former charge John London, Tom W. ... and F. E. Gilmore were indicted, for alleged fraud and conspiracy in connection with the failure of the guardian's trust company of Tahlequah. Two men indicted in the liquor cases have not been apprehended and their names could not be secured. The other four men have been under heavy bond for some time.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS

The Eggerman bill, providing a joint state home for veterans of the Union and Confederate Armies, passed the Senate this afternoon, following a prolonged battle. Republican members made a stiff fight for delay for the expressed purpose of putting Senator Colville of Mustang on record. Mr. Colville, a minority member, was absent today, but had spoken in favor of the bill when up for consideration several days ago. All of the Republicans present and two Democrats—Messrs. Redwine of McAlester and Stewart of Antlers—voted against the bill. Mr. Redwine's amendment to provide separate homes for Union and Confederate veterans brought out a prolonged debate. Senator Potter (Rep.) said he would vote for the bill with the amendment. Senator Stewart (Dem.) advocated the amendment, declaring he did not want to give the Union veterans something they don't want. Only four Democrats voted for the amendment and it lost. Senator Brownlee (Rep.) of Kingfisher moved an amendment to cut out the ex-Union soldiers altogether. It was also defeated. Mr. Brownlee also asked the majority members what they were going to do under the Jim Crow law with the negro ex-Union soldiers who would be entitled to entrance to such a home.

The Mitchell bill, providing a penalty for provocation for assault, was passed on third reading and favorable recommendation was given by the committee to Mr. Stafford's bill appropriating money for a new building for the Central Normal at Edmund. Mr. Goulding's cotton gin insurance bill and Mr. Goulding's measure prescribing a standard fire insurance policy.

The Japp concurrent resolution from the house was turned down by the Senate. It requested the State School Land Board to extend the time for rental payments to certain lessees in cyclone and hail districts. The turn-down was from fear a bad precedent would be established; also for the reason that the board already has power to take such action if desired.

After the probe, passed finally the bill which permits the manufacture and sale of apple cider in the state. The emergency clause was lost, so that the bill will not become effective until three months after the adjournment of the legislature.

There was practically no opposition in the house to Mr. Dennis' bill, appropriating money for the expenses of transporting the Oklahoma prisoners and their care at McAlester, Vinita and Atoka. The emergency clause was attached. Of

STATE NORMAL FUND GROWS

Col. J. W. Hays, E. H. Lucas, Charley Rives, C. M. Chauncey have been out today soliciting additional subscriptions on the normal fund.

The list of subscribers and amount given up till three o'clock this afternoon is published hereunder. The committee has been very diligent in attention to the arduous duty of soliciting subscriptions, and though each member smiles bravely, there is apparent a strong disappointment that there has not been a more liberal response. Because of the meagerness subscribed by some of the stronger business concerns and realty owners, some of the more public spirited militant spirits, who have until now gone their length in the state normal contest are greatly discouraged.

Through recommendation, this issue of the News will be withdrawn from circulation within Guthrie and those towns whose interests are inimical to Ada, and the list of sub-add normal fund

A perusal of the list of the Ada citizens who have subscribed to the Normal fund and the respective amounts given presents a strong case of the necessity of bringing something else to Ada which will afford a lot of our presumably stronger concerns more substantial financial substance.

It may have occurred that had the banks of Ada, for and in behalf of their respective corporations, headed or even appeared on the state normal subscription list with a respectable subscription that there would have been fewer one dollar subscriptions by leading firms in this city.

There are $10,000,000.00 worth of state normal school lands as an endowment for the state normal schools. A state normal in Ada would represent millions of dollars of additional wealth. Will not those dollar subscriptions from the stronger financial concerns of Ada appear to their donors as well invested when it becomes an accepted fact that Ada has the state normal?

BURNED TO DEATH

Ardmore, Jan. 29.—Very few of the citizens of Ardmore were aware when they got up and went about their accustomed tasks this morning that a tragedy had happened in their midst. The boarding house maintained by Mrs. Senter and known as the Roberts boarding house was burned at about four o'clock this morning.

All the inmates of the building escaped unhurt with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Littlejohn.

Mr. Littlejohn was burned to death and Mrs. Littlejohn is in the Ardmore Sanitarium suffering from serious burns. Mr. Littlejohn's body was removed to the Bridgman undertaking establishment and his relatives at McKinney, Texas, notified. It is expected that they will be in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. Littlejohn were married in Davis yesterday and they were on their way to McKinney, where they expected to make their home. Mrs. Littlejohn was a resident of Davis and well known in Ardmore.

The inside of the house was gutted, but a portion of the walls still stand and a quantity of furniture and the personal effects of some of the boarders were saved. The house burned rapidly and the inmates were compelled to seek shelter in the neighboring houses, some of them

HOW MUCH?

The man down the street whose principal occupation is occupying the room sweating the fire belonging to another man, who made the remark this morning that he wondered how much the editor of the News was getting out of the state normal "fuss" is indeed a "sweet human" to contemplate.

A telephone from Guthrie this afternoon will carry a strong committee to the state capitol tomorrow. Next week will be the eventful period of the session in the public building determinations according to the present outlook.

The Evening News will issue a modest State Normal Sunday morning edition which will be read by each member of the Oklahoma legislature and the state administration.

The cause of the fire has not yet been ascertained, but the most popular theory is that it was caused by some defect in the electric wiring.

There is much speculation concerning the fact that a man should be burned to death in so small a house and on the ground floor. The room in which the couple slept was in the back of the house, but it has two windows but a foot or two from the ground. It appears probable that the man, who was not dressed and carried a portion of his clothing in his hand, stepped out into the hall and was overwhelmed and rendered unconscious by the flames and smoke.

One member of the legislature declares that another is an ass because the latter asked whether the other would stay hitched.

If there is any politics in the city of the dead; epitaphs are probably called campaign lies.

A LIBERAL DISPENSER.

The daily newspaper is a liberal dispenser of news and information outside of the regular channels. Space is given to the sociables of the different societies, and the meetings of different kinds of the various churches, and of the business gatherings, and the political assemblies of the people. All these and many more items go into the daily newspaper free of charge. Of course, in one sense, they are news items, but in many instances they concern only a small per cent. of the readers of the daily.

And how much time and expense that these publications in the daily save those for whom they are inserted, would make quite a tidy sum, and if this information had to be given through correspondence and the mails, or delivered by word of mouth, the expense would be much more than one thinks.

It is also the province of a daily newspaper to keep the people informed of all the local happenings, and included in these, are the marriages, births and deaths—incidents in life which touch us all.

Every live town with any ambition for growth and prosperity needs a daily newspaper, and the better the patronage extended, the more good the daily can do for the town.

PRESS COMMENT.

The plan of State Superintendent Cameron with regard to large school districts, graded schools and conveying the children of farmers to and from school is one of the very best proofs that Cameron is the right man in the right place. It means that every country school will have high school advantages right at home.—Durant Daily News.

If a man who knocks on what others do for his town would lay down his hammer for a while and seriously consider what he has done to better his town he surely would feel mighty small. It's a grouchy mean feeling a fellow feels when he is a chronic knocker. It's a disease brother—a swiveling of the brain. You can cure it by getting out of your narrow way and taking a broader view of life.—Atoka Indian Citizen.

It is announced that Governor Haskell is going to invite the railroad managers to meet at Guthrie for a conference with the legislature, corporation commission and the chief executive of the state. The governor wants the railroad officials to point out wherein the constitution and laws of Oklahoma are inimical to the legitimate interests of the railroads. That's the business way of tackling the proposition and the conference should result in good to the state.—Grady County Express.

James Whitcomb Riley Carnation. From the Indianapolis Star.

In the long history of carnation cultivation the only pure yellow flower of this variety that has been produced for commercial purposes is the James Whitcomb Riley. The Riley was originated in the greenhouses of the Bertermanns at Cumberland. The Riley was first exhibited at the national flower show at Chicago last fall. There were no competitors and first prize went to the Bertermanns. The yellow bloom at once attracted wide attention among the growers of this country, and the Bertermanns have since had many inquiries for it from England.

The Riley was produced by Robert Ellis, foreman of the Bertermann houses. He is a grower of flowers of long experience, and carnations have been his hobby. For many years he has tried to grow a pure yellow bloom, and until the Riley was brought into existence the best he could do was to get blooms which had streaks in them. The Riley is a large flower of a dark golden color and streaks do not mar its beauty or commercial worth.

NORMAL ATTENDANCE.

What it Costs to Conduct a Normal School.

Guthrie, Ok., Jan. 29.—The bill by Representative Dunn, appropriating funds to defray the running expenses of the three state normal schools for one and two years, carries a grand total of $172,200 for two years or $242,275 for each year.

This is apportioned among the schools as follows:

Central Normal at Edmond, running expenses for one year $84,425; for two years $163,825.

Northwestern Normal, at Alva, one year $81,825; two years $158,525.

Southwestern Normal, at Weatherford, one year $75,925; two years $150,950.

In transmitting this estimate Secretary John L. Mitch, of the state board of regents, says:

"While the sum total may appear large to you, it is my candid opinion that the figures are conservative. The attendance at all the normal schools has so materially increased that it has become absolutely necessary to make a corresponding increase in the number of teachers."

He declares that salaries paid to normal teachers are less than paid for similar service in other states.

Her Kick.

"I don't mind finding a gray hair or two in my own hair," sighed the bachelor girl, who shows some few signs of the sere and yellow leaf, "but when I pay $3 for a nice bunch of lovely brown curls and have to pick them out of those, too, it isn't fair. Do you think it is?"—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Hail to the Governor of Arkansas.

The governor of Arkansas has issued a proclamation declaring Lincoln's birthday a semi-holiday and calling for the general observance of the day by the people of his state.

Now, what do you know about that?

Has not his excellency, the governor of Arkansas, given us the best evidence possible that the old animosities growing out of civil strife, are dead?

Think of it! The governor of a Southern state makes a holiday of the birthday of the man who was commander-in-chief of the forces that fought the Southern armies for four long, bloody years and who issued the Emancipation Proclamation! We honor the governor of Arkansas as a broad-minded statesman, whose patriotism knows no sectional limitations.

His action ought to operate as a stern rebuke to those narrow-minded midgets, north and south, who "ever and anon" rise to flaunt the emblem of sectional discord for political purposes or because they have no better sense.—Grady County Express.

Unloveliness of Mind.

"Frances Berkeley Cunningham.

"Priest or Pretender."

No woman or man can go through life scoffing at the feelings and wishes of others, holding themselves apart from companionship of their nearest and best and then expect to have love and devotion handed back to them. Egotism and unloveliness of mind breed a herd of little demons that in time will turn and make a ring around one and taunt back and sting this one who has called them into life.

WANT THE EARTH?

Well, if you will be satisfied with a modest portion of it at a modest price, we can aid you in attaining what you desire. Every man, married or single, should own real estate, if only as an investment. It's the one thing that won't run away—unless it be by an earthquake, and then you own both sides of the gap. Therefore land buying isn't a game of chance—you can't lose, on Ada property.

Offer Themselves for Sale.

New York, Jan. 29.—Two women and 200 men are for sale in this city. They declare they will work for nothing for any one who will guarantee them food, shelter and enough clothes to keep out the cold.

Offers by these ten score men and two women to become slaves for life have been received by E. T. O'Loughlin, who says he can supply men who will face death in return for life's necessities.

A Spanish general, acquainted with these facts, offers to take the 200 men to South America on a filibustering expedition.

CATHOLICS IN AMERICA.

More Under Flag of United States Than the British.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 28.—There are 14,235,451 Roman Catholics in the United States, according to the advance sheets of the 1909 Wiltz official Catholic directory, published in this city. The statistics are furnished by the archbishops and bishops of the United States after the taking of a census in all dioceses.

Adding to the 14,235,451 the number of Catholics in the Philippines, Porto Rico and the Hawaiian Islands, brings the grand total of Catholics under the United States flag to 22,474,440, as compared with 12,053,000 Catholic subjects under the British flag.

The Catholic population of the twenty leading dioceses in the United States are:

New York 1,219,520, Chicago 1,150,000, Boston 850,000, Brooklyn 700,000, New Orleans 525,000, Philadelphia 525,000, Pittsburgh 425,000, St. Louis 375,000, Hartford 365,000, Newark 365,000, Cleveland 330,000, Springfield 323,121, Detroit 267,000, Scranton 265,000, St. Paul 260,000, Baltimore 255,000, San Francisco 250,000, Buffalo 244,739, Milwaukee 235,000, and Providence 222,000.

In clear character drawing Geo. Ade has no rival among the present day playwrights and humorists. His story of love and politics, "The County Chairman," which he offers at the Ada Opera House tonight, has been pronounced by critics as the cleverest grouping types familiar to everyone who has been in a country town. Mr. Ade seems to be the logical candidate for honors of leading comedy writer of the present day.

Geo. Ade's political satire, "The County Chairman" which will be the attraction at Ada Opera House tonight is a picture not a caricature as are most comedies. Its humor is in its lines and not in the make-up or eccentricities of any comedian. It abounds in epigrams and humorous sayings. Mr. Ade has woven a pretty love story into a most charming play—the story being full of interest and admirably told by a high accomplished company.

The dramatic interest of the scene in "The County Chairman" George Ade's political play, which will be at the Ada Opera House tonight where Jim Hackler, the County Chairman, is about to expose the chicanery of Judge Rigby, is intense. He has his old enemy in a corner, but a woman's pleading saves the day. This is one of the serious moments of the play. Most of time the audience is in roars of laughter over the doings of Sassafras Livingston, the colored politician, or Whitaker, the wind-mill agent.

CONFESSES PICTURE IS HE

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 29.—In conversation with C. W. Briles, Muskogee, city superintendent of public schools, and State Senator Harry Beeler of Muskogee county, Scott McReynolds, the Hearst agent, under bond here, admitted that the picture brought from Muskogee yesterday, said to have been obtained from the rogue's gallery of Detroit, Mich., was of himself, but claimed that it had been especially prepared as a part of the conspiracy to discredit him.

It was marked "No. 63." He said nothing about the story attached to the picture, nor of the name "Mark Van Houghton," which is as that of the man who served the term at Detroit.

Chief Justice of Oklahoma's criminal court of appeals, Henry M. Furman, is home with family after an absence of two months, enforced principally on account of arduous duties and in part because of serious rheumatic trouble, necessitating him spending the holidays at Claremore under treatment.

The judge expresses himself as intensely interested in Ada's state normal undertaking for state normal, though he is frank to state, that the character of his official duties as well as the general state of the mind of the legislature, his influence for Ada has been limited.

THE NEW JERUSALEM PLAN

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 29.—If the legislature fails to pass a bill embodying the New Jerusalem scheme, it is the intention of Senator Campbell Russell, father of the idea, to have one initiated by the people. A concurrent resolution calling for a committee to draft the bill has passed the senate and is pending in the house. The senate has named its committee, and has in rough draft the bill to be proposed.

Senator Russell holds there is nothing in the enabling act or other place prohibiting the state from creating a state printing office and locating it where it pleases, so that the legislation will be made to specifically provide for such an institution. Reference is not made to the state capital, only as it would be included in the phrase, "other state institutions." It will be recalled that the capital was located by the enabling act at Guthrie until 1913.

The idea is to appoint a public improvement commission to select not less than two or more than four districts meeting requirements, and situated not more than fifty miles from the geographical center of the state. Two-year options are to be secured upon all of the land in the district. Among the requirements will be the location, elevation, water supply, drainage, transportation facilities, all of which, it is contemplated, will be distributed in printed form among the voters of the state. These places are to be voted upon at the general election, and if a citizen has a tract he would like to enter, it is provided he may do so by filing as per requirements with the secretary of state and the corporation commission.

The district are to contain from sixteen to thirty-six sections of land, and appear on the election ballot in one, two, three order as determined by lot. The ballot will bear this statement:

"My choice for a New Jerusalem district in which shall be located the state printing plant and other public institutions which the people of Oklahoma may desire to locate therein."

The district receiving a majority of all the votes cast shall be the official New Jerusalem site for location of the state printing plant. In case no site receives a majority of all the votes, the two receiving the highest will be submitted at a second election, and the site receiving the most votes in the second election will receive the designation. Bonds will be authorized to pay for the land.

All public institutions provided for after passage of the act, which are designed to serve the people of the entire state, shall be located in the district, unless the legislature shall, for special reasons, set out in the act creating the same, deem best to locate elsewhere. This will not apply to Normal schools, district agricultural schools or other institutions that are intended to serve the people of one section of the state, nor to institutions already located.

Residence and business lots are to be sold by the public improvement commission, but before doing so shall make of record the class of buildings that will be permitted in the various sections.

Miss Durelle Cullins was the hostess of the Saturday afternoon club today.

FIRES IN OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, Jan. 29.—The Daily Oklahoman has the following to say of its appearance:

The Oklahoman has no apologies to make.

Scorched, battered, homeless and deformed it has come out on time.

After the most trying day in its history, its office flame-swept, its plant ruined, the spirit of the paper that won't quit and the kindness of its hosts of friends have made it possible for you to read the Oklahoman as usual this morning. Managed from the wreck of its building, edited in the Chamber of Commerce rooms and printed at the plant of the News, The Oklahoman under harrowing difficulties is doing business very much as if the fire had been nothing but a bad dream.

Seven fires involving a total loss of approximately $140,000 and seven calls for the fire department—that was Oklahoma City's fire record yesterday.

It made a tremendous boom in the fire insurance business. One agent reported that shortly after the J. I. Case fire started $17,000 worth of insurance was telephoned into his office. It also demonstrated better than any amount of talking could that the demand for more and better fire apparatus is imperative.

BY WIRELESS ELECTRICITY

New York, Jan. 29.—Demonstration of one of the greatest achievements thus far reached in aerial locomotion was given when Mark O. Anthony, a New York electrical engineer, sent a small dirigible balloon scud-ding about through the air by means of power, making it perform all sorts of evolutions and having the air craft at all time under perfect control. By actual performance, he demonstrated for the first time that the long sought for secret of propelling airships by wireless electricity has been discovered.

Sitting at a small electrical key-board, such as is used in sending wireless messages, the inventor ticked off various combinations of dots and dashes, each combination causing the balloon to perform some particular movement. Sometime the operator placed his instrument directly under the balloon, and again would remove it 200 feet away. Distance had no effect upon the control and the response of the mechanism which operated the propellers was prompt and effective.

Distance Makes No Difference.
"With this small apparatus," he said, "I could control the balloon at a distance of twelve or fifteen miles, and with a more powerful apparatus the control could be extended to almost any distance."

Today's exhibition was given in Leo Steven's balloon house, in Hoboken, N. J., a structure 600 to 700 feet in length and with sufficient headroom to allow a satisfactory test of the "wireless dirigible."

Description of Craft.
The model now being used consists of an ordinary cigar-shaped gas bag twenty-two feet in length and inflated with hydrogen gas. Beneath that is suspended the common type of frame work used in all dirigibles, except that all of the mechanism is operated by wireless electricity, instead of by a gasoline motor, controlled by an operator sitting beside it.

In the ordinary dirigible, balloon to control it are a propeller which sends it forward, and a rudder which governs its course. In Mr. Anthony's invention other devices are added. Besides the propeller and the rudder he has a second propeller directly beneath the center of the frame, which operates vertically and lifts or lowers the airship at the will of the operator. He also has added a mechanical device which at the call of a few dots and dashes releases a clutch which drops a small weight representing a charge of dynamite to be used in warfare.

During a two hours' trial today the inventor sat at his keyboard in one end of the building and caused the balloon to do everything that any one asked. After being inflated it was placed at an altitude of about fifteen feet from the floor, at one end of the long shed, and Mr. Anthony announced that he was ready for "sailing orders."

"Send it ahead," said one of the visitors.

Machine Is Started.
Mr. Anthony grasped the key and ticked off "dot, dot, dot, dash, dot, dot." Instantly there was a light whirring sound in the mechanism of the little airship, the propeller began to buzz, the balloon gave a little quiver and started forward. It moved forward precisely as if some tiny aeronaut were seated in the frame-work manipulating a motor. On it sped toward the opposite end of the shed, when the order was given "Turn her around."

"Dash, dot, dot, dash, dot," sputtered the instrument under Anthony's fingers. The propeller quickly stopped, and as quickly began revolving in the opposite direction. The rudder swerved to one side and the airship, wobbling for a few seconds, regained its stability, turned gracefully about and was soon gliding back in the opposite direction.

Uses Compressed Air.
"The engine is so constructed that the amount of air consumed, after passing through the reducing valve, is small in comparison with any motor now on the market," said Mr. Anthony. "By using compressed air motors I do away with gas or other motors, now in common use, and get rid of the danger from heat and spark. In the model small batteries are used to operate the electric motors, whereas in the larger machine compressed air tanks will be used in place of batteries for motive power. The secret of the apparatus is in the sending and receiving of the Hertzian wave."

GALE EXTENDS OVER COUNTRY

Washington, Jan. 29.—In the grasp of a storm that is sweeping eastward with increasing severity and extent, is the condition of almost the entire country this side of the Eastern Rocky Mountain Slope. Rain, snow and sleet are falling and high winds and gales are blowing in all these States and shipping on the Atlantic Coast, all the way from New York to Jacksonville, and along the Mexican Gulf Coast, has been warned of the advancing storm, which is preceded by rising temperatures. A cold snap follows in the wake of the storm.

Dallas, Jan. 29.—In Dallas within two days, and up until last night, there were seventeen fire alarms. The total loss has been estimated at $19,850, confined to residences and barns. Four residences burned yesterday at Grand Saline. The flames spread because of the wind. The grain elevator at Bison, near Kingfisher, Ok., with a quantity of corn in cars on the railroad track, burned, causing a loss of about $25,000. In the Glenn oil pool, near Tulsa, Ok., the damage is probably $50,000, by reason of the wind's having leveled many derricks. The wall of a hotel was wrecked at Muskogee. Fifty derricks are down in the oil field near Keifer, Ok.

In the Texas Panhandle the sand-storm was terrific. So far as reports were received, in the face of the badly demoralized condition of wires in many sections, the gale was followed by a cold wave that embraces the entire Southwestern country from Kansas to Southern Texas and across to the Territory of New Mexico.

AN EARTHQUAKE IN SPAIN

London, Jan. 30.—A special dispatch received here from San Sebastian, Spain, says that a terrible earthquake has devastated several towns and villages in South and Southeastern Spain.

A tidal wave partially submerged the coast near Barcelona, and a great landslide at Ceuta buried the village of Romara and several hundred inhabitants.

London, Jan. 30.—A dispatch from Tarrasa says that Barcelona has been overwhelmed by a tidal wave. The loss of life is unknown.

The subterranean roaring preceding the tidal wave caused a fearful panic among the people on the promenades and in the buildings of the city.

News from Malaga says that many houses were damaged in the town of Totara and several villages in the Province of Murcia.

Barcelona is the seaport capital of the province of Barcelona, situated on the Mediterranean, between the mouth of the Llobregat and Besos. The ancient Barcino, Barcello, said to have been founded or rebuilt by Hamilcar Barco and named for him. It was called in the middle ages Barcinona, or Barchinona. It is the second city in Spain and one of the principal commercial places in the peninsula and a strong fortress. It has regular steam communication with the important ports of the world. It is the seat of a noted university founded in 1596. It was an important Roman and Gothic city and became the capital of the Spanish march.

A STORY OF HEROISM.

A thrilling incident occurred at the close of Dr. Torrey's first meeting in Los Angeles. He was preaching upon "Soul-winning," and closed the sermon with an account of the rescue of seventeen persons from Lake Michigan by Mr. Edward Spencer.

Said Mr. Torrey: "Twelve miles north of Chicago lies Evanston. At Evanston is the Northwestern University. Years ago, when the university was young—in fact, when it was simply a country college—two strong farmer boys from Iowa came to the college, Will and Edward Spencer. Ed. Spencer was a famous swimmer. One morning word came to the college that there was a wreck north of Evanston. The college boys, with the people of the town, hurried along the shore. When they reached the place they found planks and spars and other pieces of wreckage being driven ashore from the Lady Elgin, to which were clinging men and women.

"Edward Spencer threw off his coat and superfluous garments, tied a rope around his waist, threw at end to his comrades on the shore, jumped into the breakers and swam out. He grasped one who was struggling in the water, gave the signal and was brought to shore. Again and again he swam out, until he had brought a fifth, a sixth, a seventh, an eighth, a ninth, and a tenth safe to shore. He then seemed completely exhausted. His comrades had built a fire of logs on the shore, and he tottered to the fire and stood by it trying to get a little warmth into his perishing members.

"As he stood there he looked out again over the lake, and saw others struggling in the water. He said: 'Boys, I am going in again.'

"No, no, Ed,' they cried, your strength is all gone. You cannot swim out again. You will only throw your own life away. It would be suicide."

"I will try anyway, boys,' he cried, and again he sprang into the breakers, and swam out and grasped one that was drowning and brought him safe to shore. He brought an eleventh, a twelfth, a thirteenth, a fourteenth, and a fifteenth safe to shore. Then strength seemed all gone. He tottered once more to the fire, and stood there pale and trembling, and cold. It seemed as if the hand of death was already upon him. He could scarcely stand.

Looking out again over the water he saw a spar rising and falling upon the waves. Then he saw a man's head above the spar, and a woman's head beside the man's.

"He cried: 'Boys it is a man trying to save his wife. I'll help him.' 'No, no, Ed,' they cried, 'you could never reach him.'

"I will try," he cried, and again burst from the crowd and sprang into the awful breakers. Summoning his fast dying strength, he reached the spar, and placed his hands upon it and brought it around the point to a place of safety. He was then pulled through the breakers. Tender hands lifted him from the shore and carried him to his room in the college. They laid him upon his bed, and for a while he seemed to fall asleep.

His brother Will went over and sat down by the fire they had kindled in the grate. As he sat there thinking, suddenly he heard a gentle touch football behind him and felt a touch upon his shoulder. Looking up he saw Ed. standing looking down into his face with wistful eyes. "Will," he said, "do you think I did my best? 'You saved seventeen,' his brother replied. 'I know it,' he cried, 'but I was afraid I did not do my very best.'

"Will took him back and laid him on the bed once more. Through the night he tossed in semi-delirium, thinking only of those who had perished that day, for in spite of all his bravery and that of others many went down to a watery grave."

"There are wrecks everywhere. Men and women are going down. Let us cry in the earnestness of our love for lost souls: 'Oh, if I could only have saved just one more!'"

All over the Tabernacle, as Dr. Torrey concluded, people were in tears. Hundreds rose to their feet to dedicate themselves to the work of soul-winning. At that point, President Baer stepped up behind Dr. Torrey and whispered, "The man who sat next to me says Ed Spencer is in the building at this moment."

Dr. Torrey at once stepped to the front of the platform, and said: "I am often asked what became of Ed. Spencer. He was a physical wreck. He had to give up his preparation for the ministry. He is now a resident of California, and I am told that he is in the building at this moment. If he is, will he please come to the platform?"

Mr. Cleveland, who had pointed him out to Dr. Baer, went to him where he sat near the platform, and he was immediately brought to Dr. Torrey's side. The whole audience sprang to their feet, burst into applause, and waved their handkerchiefs.

Mr. Spencer whispered to Dr. Torrey: "It is just forty eight years and two months today since it happened."

The whole audience bowed in prayer, and Dr. Torrey asked that God would make Ed. Spencer's last days his best days. Mr. Spencer whispered, "He has."—London Christian.

SIX INDICTED AT MUSKOGEE

Muskogee, Jan. 29.—Six indictments were returned to Judge John C. Pollock in the federal court room at 10 o'clock this morning, by the grand jury which has been in session at the federal jail for several days.

However, none of the indictments pertained to the Mott town lot suits. Four were for conspiracy to defraud the government and two were for violation of the Federal Statute laws.

On the former charge John London, Tom W. and F. E. Gilmore were indicted for alleged fraud and conspiracy in connection with the guardian's trust company of Tahlequah. Two men indicted in the liquor cases have not been apprehended and their names could not be secured. The other four men have been under heavy bond for some time.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS

The Eggerman bills, providing a joint state home for veterans of the Union and Confederate Armies, passed the Senate this afternoon, following a prolonged battle. Republican members made a stiff fight for delay for the expressed purpose of putting Senator Corville of Mustang on record. Mr. Corville, a minority member, was absent today, but had spoken in favor of the bill when up for consideration several days ago. All of the Republicans present and two Democrats—Messrs. Redwine of McAlester and Stewart of Antlers—voted against the bill. Mr. Redwine's amendment to provide separate homes for Union and Confederate veterans brought out a prolonged debate. Senator Potter (Rep.) said he would vote for the bill with the amendment. Senator Stewart (Dem.) advocated the amendment, declaring he did not want to give the Union veterans something they don't want. Only four Democrats voted for the amendment and it lost. Senator Brownlee (Rep.) of Kingfisher moved an amendment to cut out the ex-Union soldiers altogether. It was also defeated. Mr. Brownlee also asked the majority members what they were going to do under the Jim Crow law with the negro ex-Union soldiers who would be entitled to entrance to such a home.

The Mitchell bill, providing a penalty for provocation for assault, was passed on third reading and favorable recommendation was given by the committee to Mr. Stafford's bill appropriating money for a new building for the Central Normal at Edmond. Mr. Goulding's cotton gin insurance bill and Mr. Goulding's measure prescribing a standard fire insurance policy.

The Japp concurrent resolution from the house was turned down by the Senate. It requested the State School Land Board to extend the time for rental payments to certain lessees in cyclone and hail districts. The turn-down was from fear a bad precedent would be established, also for the reason that the board already has power to take such action if desired.

After the probe passed finally the bill which permits the manufacture and sale of apple cider in the state. The emergency clause was lost, so that the bill will not become effective until three months after the adjournment of the legislature.

There was practically no opposition in the house to Mr. Dennis' bill, appropriating money for the expenses of transporting the Oklahoma prisoners and their care at McAlester, Vinita and Atoka. The emergency clause was attached. Of

Col. J. W. Hays, E. H. Lucas, Charley Rives, C. M. Chaucney have been out today soliciting additional subscriptions on the normal fund.

The list of subscribers and amount given up till three o'clock this afternoon is published hereunder. The committee has been very diligent in attention to the arduous duty of soliciting subscriptions, and though each member smiles bravely, there is apparent a strong disappointment that there has not been a more liberal response. Because of the meager sum subscribed by some of the stronger business concerns and real-estate owners, some of the more public spirited militant spirits, who have until now gone their length in the state normal contest are greatly discouraged.

Through recommendation, this issue of the News will be withdrawn from circulation within Guthrie and those towns whose interests are identical to Ada, and the list of sub-normal fund.

A perusal of the list of the Ada citizens who have subscribed to the Normal fund and the respective amounts given presents a strong case of the necessity of bringing something else to Ada which will afford a lot of our presumably stronger concerns more substantial financial substance.

It may have occurred that had the banks of Ada, for and in behalf of their respective corporations, headed or even appeared on the state normal subscription list with a respectable subscription that there would have been fewer one dollar subscriptions by leading firms in this city.

There are $10,000,000.00 worth of state normal school lands as an endowment for the state normal schools. A state normal in Ada would represent millions of dollars of additional wealth. Will not those dollar subscriptions from the stronger financial concerns of Ada appear to their donors as well invested when it becomes an accepted fact that Ada has the state normal?

BURNED TO DEATH

Ardmore, Jan. 29.—Very few of the citizens of Ardmore were aware when they got up and went about their accustomed tasks this morning that a tragedy had happened in their midst. The boarding house maintained by Mrs. Senter and known as the Roberts boarding house was burned at about four o'clock this morning.

All the inmates of the building escaped unhurt with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Littlejohn.

Mr. Littlejohn was burned to death and Mrs. Littlejohn is in the Ardmore Sanitarium suffering from serious burns. Mr. Littlejohn's body was removed to the Bridgman undertaking establishment and his relatives at McKinney, Texas, notified. It is expected that they will be in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. Littlejohn were married in Davis yesterday and they were on their way to McKinney, where they expected to make their home. Mrs. Littlejohn was a resident of Davis and well known in Ardmore.

The inside of the house was gutted, but a portion of the walls still stand and a quantity of furniture and the personal effects of some of the boarders were saved. The house burned rapidly and the inmates were compelled to seek shelter in the neighboring houses, some of them.

HOW MUCH?
The man down the street whose principal occupation is occupying the room sweating the fire belonging to another man, who made the remark this morning that he wondered how much the editor of the News was getting out of the state normal "fuss" is indeed a "sweet human" to contemplate.

A telephone from Guthrie this afternoon will carry a strong committee to the state capitol tomorrow. Next week will be the eventful period of the session in the public building determinations according to the present outlook.

The Evening News will issue a modest State Normal Sunday morning edition which will be read by each member of the Oklahoma legislature and the state administration.

The cause of the fire has not yet been ascertained, but the most popular theory is that it was caused by some defect in the electric wiring.

There is much speculation concerning the fact that a man should be burned to death in so small a house and on the ground floor. The room in which the couple slept was in the back of the house, but it has two windows but a foot or two from the ground. It appears probable that the man, who was not dressed and carried a portion of his clothing in his hand, stepped out into the hall and was overwhelmed and rendered unconscious by the flames and smoke.

One member of the legislature declares that another is an ass because the latter asked whether the other would stay hitched.

If there is any politics in the city of the dead; epitaphs are probably called campaign lies.

The dramatic interest of the scene in "The County Chairman" George Ade's political play, which will be at the Ada Opera House tonight where Jim Haecker, the County Chairman, is about to expose the chicanery of Judge Rigby, is intense. He has his old enemy in a corner, but a woman's pleading saves the day. This is one of the serious moments of the play. Most of time the audience is in roars of laughter over the doings of Sissifus Livingston, the colored politician, or Whittaker, the wind-mill agent.

CONFESSES PICTURE IS HE

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 29.—In conversation with C. W. Briles, Muskogee, city superintendent of public schools, and State Senator Harry Haecker of Muskogee county, Scott McNettolds, the Hearst agent, under bond here, admitted that the picture brought from Muskogee yesterday, said to have been obtained from the royaume gallery of Detroit, Mich., was of himself, but claimed that it had been especially prepared as a part of the conspiracy to discredit him.

It was marked "No. 63." He said nothing about the story attached to the picture, nor of the name "Mark Van Houghton," which is as that of the man who served the term at Detroit.

THE NEW JERUSALEM PLAN

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 29.—If the legislature fails to pass a bill embodying the New Jerusalem scheme, it is the location of Senator Campbell's bill, either of the idea, to have one introduced by the people. A concurrent resolution calling for a committee to draft the bill has passed the senate and is pending in the house. The senate has named its committee, and has in rough draft the bill to be proposed.

Senator Russell holds there is nothing in the enabling act or other place prohibiting the state from creating a state printing office and locating it where it pleases, so that the legislature will be made to specifically provide for such an institution. Reference is not made to the state capital, only as it would be included in the phrase, "other state institutions." It will be recalled that the capital was located by the enabling act at Guthrie until 1913.

The idea is to appoint a public improvement commission to select not less than two or more than four districts, meeting requirements, and situated not more than fifty miles from the geographical center of the state. Two-year outposts are to be located upon all of the land in the state. Among the requirements will be the location of water supply, drainage, and other facilities, all of which, it is contemplated, will be distributed in printed form among the voters of the state. These places are to be voted upon at the general election, and if a citizen has a tract he would like to enter, it is provided he may do so by filing a petition with the secretary of state and the corporation commission.

The district are to contain from sixteen to thirty six sections of land, and appear on the election ballot in one, two, three order as determined by lot. The ballot will bear this statement:

"My choice for a New Jerusalem district in which shall be located the state printing plant and other public institutions which the people of Oklahoma may desire to locate therein."

The district receiving a majority of all the votes cast shall be the official New Jerusalem site for location of the state printing plant. In case no site receives a majority of all the votes, the two receiving the highest will be submitted at a second election, and the site receiving the most votes in the second election will receive the designation. Bonds will be authorized to pay for the land.

All public institutions provided for after passage of the act, which are designed to serve the people of the entire state, shall be located in the district, unless the legislature shall, for special reasons, set out in the act creating the same, deem best to locate elsewhere. This will not apply to Normal schools, district agricultural schools or other institutions that are intended to serve the people of one section of the state, nor to institutions already located. Residence and business lots are to be sold by the public improvement commission, but before doing so shall make of record the class of buildings that will be permitted in the various sections.

Mrs. Dorelle Collins was the hostess of the Saturday afternoon club today.

FIRES IN OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, Jan. 29.—The Daily Oklahoman has the following to say of its appearance:

The Oklahoman has no photostats to make.

Scorched, battered, homeless, and deformed it has come out on time.

After the most trying day in its history, its office flame-swept, its plant ruined, the spirit of the paper that won't quit and the kindness of its friends, have made it possible for you to read the Oklahoman as usual this morning. Managed from the wreck of its building, edited in the Chamber of Commerce, and printed at the plant of the News, The Oklahoman under harrowing difficulties is doing business very much as if the fire had been nothing but a bad dream.

Seven fires involving a total loss of approximately $140,000 and seven calls for the fire department—that was Oklahoma City's fire record yesterday.

It made a tremendous boom in the fire insurance business. One agent reported that shortly after the J. I. Case fire started $17,000 worth of insurance was telephoned into his office. It also demonstrated better than any amount of talking could that the demand for more and better fire apparatus is imperative.

BY WIRELESS ELECTRICITY

New York, Jan. 29.—Demonstration of one of the greatest achievements thus far reached in aerial locomotion was given when Mark O. Anthony, a New York electrical engineer, sent a small dirigible balloon scudding about through the air by means of power, making it perform all sorts of evolutions and having the air craft at all time under perfect control. By actual performance, he demonstrated for the first time that the long sought for secret of propelling airships by wireless electricity has been discovered.

Sitting at a small electrical key-board, such as is used in sending wireless messages, the inventor flicked off various combinations of dots and dashes, each combination causing the balloon to perform some particular movement. Sometimes the operator placed his instrument directly under the balloon, and again would remove it 200 feet away. Distance had no effect upon the control and the response of the mechanism which operated the propellers was prompt and effective.

Distance Makes No Difference.
"With this small apparatus," he said, "I could control the balloon at a distance of twelve or fifteen miles, and with a more powerful apparatus the control could be extended to almost any distance."

Today's exhibition was given in Leo Stettin's balloon house, 15 Hokeney st. A special set of 700 feet of wire was used with sufficient headroom to allow a satisfactory test of the "wireless dirigible."

Description of Craft.
The model now being used consists of an ordinary cigar-shaped gas bag twenty-two feet in length and inflated with hydrogen gas. Beneath that is suspended the common type of frame work used in all dirigibles, except that all of the mechanism is operated by wireless electricity, instead of by a gasoline motor, controlled by an operator sitting beside it.

In the ordinary dirigible balloon to control it are a propeller which sends it forward, and a rudder which governs its course. In Mr. Anthony's invention other devices are added. Besides the propeller and the rudder he has a second propeller directly beneath the center of the frame, which operates vertically and lifts or lowers the airship at the will of the operator. He also has added a mechanical device which at the call of a few dots and dashes releases a clutch which drops a small weight representing a charge of dynamite to be used in warfare.

During a two hours' trial today the inventor sat at his keyboard in one end of the building and caused the balloon to do everything that any one asked. After being inflated it was placed at an altitude of about fifteen feet from the floor, at one end of the long shed, and Mr. Anthony announced that he was ready for "flying orders."

"Send it ahead," said one of the visitors.

Machine Is Started.
Mr. Anthony grasped the key and flicked off "dot, dot, dot, dash, dot, dot." Instantly there was a light whirring sound in the mechanism of the little airship, the propeller began to buzz, the balloon gave a little quiver and started forward. It moved forward precisely as if some tiny aeronaut were seated in the framework manipulating a motor. On it sped toward the opposite end of the shed, when the order was given "Turn her around." "Dash, dot, dot, dash, dot," spluttered the instrument under Anthony's fingers. The propeller quickly stopped, and as quickly began revolving in the opposite direction. The rudder swerved to one side and the airship, wobbling for a few seconds, regained its stability, turned gracefully about and was soon gliding back in the opposite direction.

Uses Compressed Air.
"The engine is so constructed that the amount of air consumed, after passing through the reducing valve, is small in comparison with any motor now on the market," said Mr. Anthony. "By using compressed air motors I do away with gas or other motors, now in common use, and get rid of the danger from heat and spark. In the model small batteries are used to operate the electric motors, whereas in the larger machine compressed air tanks will be used in place of batteries for motive power. The secret of the apparatus is in the sending and receiving of the Hertzian wave."

GALE EXTENDS OVER COUNTRY

Washington, Jan. 29.—In the grasp of a storm that is sweeping eastward with increasing severity and extent, is the condition of almost the entire country this side of the Eastern Rocky Mountain Slope. Rain, snow and sheet are falling and high winds and gales are blowing in all these States and shipping on the Atlantic Coast, all the way from New York to Jacksonville, and along the Mexican Gulf Coast, has been warned of the advancing storm, which is preceded by rising temperatures. A cold snap follows in the wake of the storm.

Dallas, Jan. 29.—In Dallas within two days, and up until last night, there were seventeen fire alarms. The total loss has been estimated at $19,850, confined to residences and barns. Four residences burned yesterday at Grand Saline. The flames spread because of the wind. The grain elevator at Bison, near Kingfisher, Ok., with a quantity of corn in cars on the railroad track, burned, causing a loss of about $25,000. In the Glenn oil pool, near Tulsa, Ok., the damage is probably $50,000, by reason of the wind's having leveled many derricks. The wall of a hotel was wrecked at Muskogee. Fifty derricks are down in the oil field near Keifer, Ok.

In the Texas Panhandle the sand-storm was terrific. So far as reports were received, in the face of the badly demoralized condition of wires in many sections, the gale was followed by a cold wave that embraces the entire Southwestern country from Kansas to Southern Texas and across to the Territory of New Mexico.

Tarrasa says that Barcelona has been overwhelmed by a tidal wave. The loss of life is unknown.

The subterranean roaring preceding the tidal wave caused a fearful panic among the people on the promenades and in the buildings of the city.

News from Malaga says that many houses were damaged in the town of Totana and several villages in the Province of Murcia.

Barcelona is the seaport capital of the province of Barcelona, situated on the Mediterranean, between the mouth of the Llobregat and Besos. The ancient Barcino, Barcello, said to have been founded or rebuilt by Hamilcar Barca and named for him. It was called in the middle ages Barcinona, or Barcblnna. It is the second city in Spain and one of the principal commercial places in the peninsula and a strong fortress. It has regular steam communication with the important ports of the world. It is the seat of a noted university founded in 1506. It was an important Roman and Gothic city and became the capital of the Spanish march.

A STORY OF HEROISM

A tidal wave occurred at the close of Dr. Torrey's first lecture in his class. He was preparing upon "Soul-winning" and closed the session with an account of the rescue of a young man from Lake Michigan by Mr. Edward Spencer.

Said Mr. Torrey: "Twelve miles north of Chicago lies Evanston. At Evanston is the Northwestern University. Years ago, when the university was young—in fact, when it was simply a country college—two strong farmer boys from Iowa came to the college, Will and Edward Spencer. Ed. Spencer was a famous swimmer. One morning word came to the college that there was a wreck north of Evanston. The college boys, with the people of the town, hurried along the shore. When they reached the place they found planks and spars and other pieces of wreckage being driven ashore from the Lady Elgin, to which were clinging men and women.

"Edward Spencer threw off his coat and snapperous garments, tied a rope around his waist, threw an end to his comrades on the shore, jumped into the breakers and swam out. He grasped one who was struggling in the water, gave the signal and was brought to shore. Again and again and again he swam out, until he had brought a fifth, a sixth, a seventh, an eighth, a ninth, and a tenth safe to shore. He then seemed completely exhausted. His comrades had built a line of logs on the shore, and he tumbled to the fire and stood by it trying to get a little warmth into his perishing members.

"As he stood there he looked out again over the lake, and saw others struggling in the water. He said: 'Boys, I am going in again.'

"No, no, Ed., they cried, your strength is all gone. You cannot swim out again. You will only throw your own life away. It would be suicide."

"I will try anyway, boys," he cried, and again he sprang into the breakers, and swam out and grasped one that was drowning and brought him safe to shore. He brought an eleventh, a twelfth, a thirteenth, a fourteenth, and a fifteenth safe to shore. Then strength seemed all gone. He tottered once more to the fire, and stood there pale and trembling, and cold. It seemed as if the hand of death was already upon him. He could scarcely stand.

Looking out again over the water he saw a spar rising and falling upon the waves. Then he saw a man's head above the spar, and a woman's head beside the man's.

"He cried: 'Boys it is a man trying to save his wife. I'll help him.' 'No, no, Ed., they cried, 'you could never reach him.'

"I will try," he cried, and again burst from the crowd and sprang into the awful breakers. Summoning his fast dying strength, he reached the spar, and placed his hands upon it and brought it around the point to a place of safety. He was then pulled through the breakers. Tender hands lifted him from the shore and carried him to his room in the college. They laid him upon his bed, and for a while he seemed to fall asleep.

His brother Will went over and sat down by the fire they had kindled in the grate. As he sat there thinking, suddenly he heard a gentle cough behind him and felt a touch upon his shoulder. Looking up he saw Ed. standing looking down into his face with wistful eyes. "Will," he said, "do you think I did my best?" "You saved seventeen," his brother replied. "I know it," he cried, "but I was afraid I did not do my very best."

"Will took him back and laid him on the bed once more. Through the night he tossed in semi-delirium, thinking only of those who had perished that day, for in spite of all his bravery and that of others many went down to a watery grave."

"There are wrecks everywhere. Men and women are going down. Let us cry in the earnestness of our love for lost souls: 'Oh, if I could only have saved just one more!'"

All over the Tabernacle, as Dr. Torrey concluded, people were in tears. Hundreds rose to their feet to dedicate themselves to the work of soul-winning. At that point, President Baer stepped up behind Dr. Torrey and whispered, "The man who sat next to me says Ed. Spencer is in the building at this moment."

Dr. Torrey at once stepped to the front of the platform, and said: "Ed. Spencer, a man often asked what became of Ed. Spencer. He was a physical wreck, and a timid safe to shore. He then had to give up his preparation for the ministry. He is now a resident of California, and I am told that he is in the building at this moment. If he is, will he please come to the platform?"

Mr. Cleveland, who had pointed him out to Dr. Baer, went to him where he sat near the platform, and he was immediately brought to Dr. Torrey's side. The whole audience sprang to their feet, burst into applause, and waved their handkerchiefs.

Mr. Spencer whispered to Dr. Torrey: "It is just forty eight years and two months today since it happened." The whole audience bowed in prayer, and Dr. Torrey asked that God would make Ed. Spencer's last days his best days. Mr. Spencer whispered, "He has."—London Christian.

SIX INDICTED AT MUSKOGEE

Muskogee, Jan. 29.—Six indictments were returned to Judge John C. Pollock in the federal court room at 10 o'clock this morning, by the grand jury which has been in session at the federal jail for several days.

However, none of the indictments pertained to the Mott town lot suits. Four were for conspiracy to defraud the government and two were for violation of the United States liquor laws.

On the former charge John London, Tom W. and E. E. Gilmore were indicted, for alleged fraud and conspiracy in connection with the liquor business. The indictment against the latter two men is based on the liquor cases have not been apprehended and their names could not be secured. The other four men have been under heavy bond for some time.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS

The Eggerman bill, providing a joint state home for veterans of the Union and Confederate Armies, passed the Senate this afternoon, following a prolonged battle. Republican members made a stiff fight for delay for the expressed purpose of putting Senator Coville of Mustang on record. Mr. Coville, a minority member, was absent today, but had spoken in favor of the bill which upon consideration several days ago. All of the Republicans present and two Democrats—Messrs. Redwine of McAlester and Stewart of Antlers—voted against the bill. Mr. Redwine's amendment to provide separate homes for Union and Confederate veterans brought out a prolonged debate. Senator Porter (Rep.) said he would vote for the bill with the amendment Senator Stewart (Dem.) advocated the amendment, declaring he did not want to give the Union veterans something they don't want. Only four Democrats voted for the amendment and it lost. Senator Brownlee (Rep.) of Kingfisher moved an amendment to cut out the ex-Union soldiers altogether. It was also defeated. Mr. Brownlee also asked the majority members what they were going to do under the Jim Crow law with the negro ex-Union soldiers who would be entitled to entrance to such a home.

The Mitchell bill providing a penalty for provocation for assault, was passed on third reading and favorable recommendation was given by the committee to Mr. Stanford's bill appropriating money for a new building for the Central Normal at Edmond. Mr. Goulding's cotton gin insurance bill and Mr. Goulding's measure prescribing a standard fire insurance policy.

The Japp concurrent resolution from the house was turned down by the Senate. It requested the State School Land Board to extend the time for rental payments to certain lessees in cyclone and hail districts. The turn-down was from fear a bad precedent would be established also for the reason that the board already has power to take such action in distress.

After the probe passed finally the bill which permits the manufacture and sale of apple cider in the state. The emergency clause was lost, so that the bill will not become effective until three months after the adjournment of the legislature.

There was practically no opposition in the house to Mr. Dennis' bill appropriating money for the expenses of transporting the Oklahoma prisoners and their care at McAlester, Vinita and Atoka. The emergency clause was attached to

Col. J. W. Hays, R. H. Lucas, Charley Rives, C. M. Chauncey have been out today soliciting additional subscriptions on the normal fund.

The list of subscribers and amount given up till three o'clock this afternoon is published hereunder. The committee has been very diligent in attention to the arduous duty of soliciting subscriptions, and though each member smiles bravely, there is apparent a strong disappointment that there has not been a more liberal response. Because of the meagre sum subscribed by some of the stronger business concerns and realty owners, some of the more public spirited militant spirits, who have until now gone their length in the state normal contest are greatly discouraged.

Through recommendation, this issue of the News will be withdrawn from circulation within Guthrie and those towns whose interests are identical to Ada, and the list of subscribers added normal fund:

A personal of the list of the Ada citizens who have subscribed to the Normal fund and the respective amounts given presents a strong case of the necessity of bringing something else to Ada which will afford a lot of our presumably stronger concerns more substantial financial substance.

It may have occurred that had the banks of Ada, for and in behalf of their respective corporations headed or even appeared on the state normal subscription list with a respectable subscription that there would have been fewer one dollar subscriptions by leading firms in this city.

There are $10,000,000.00 worth of state normal school lands as an endowment for the state normal schools. A state normal in Ada would represent millions of dollars of additional wealth. Will not those dollar subscriptions from the stronger financial concerns of Ada appear to their donors as well invested when it becomes an accepted fact that Ada has the state normal?

BURNED TO DEATH

Ada, Jan. 29.—Very few of the citizens of Ardmore were aware when they got up and went about their accustomed tasks this morning that a tragedy had happened in their midst. The boarding house maintained by Mrs. Senter and known as the Roberts boarding house was burned at about four o'clock this morning.

All the inmates of the building escaped unhurt with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Littlejohn.

Mr. Littlejohn was burned to death and Mrs. Littlejohn is in the Ardmore Sanitarium suffering from serious burns. Mr. Littlejohn's body was removed to the Bridgman undertaking establishment and his relatives at McKinney, Texas, notified. It is expected that they will be in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. Littlejohn were married in Davis yesterday and they were on their way to McKinney, where they expected to make their home. Mrs. Littlejohn was a resident of Davis and well known in Ardmore.

The inside of the house was gutted, but a portion of the wall still stand and a quantity of furniture and the personal effects of some of the boarders were saved. The house burned rapidly and the inmates were compelled to seek shelter in the neighboring houses. Some of them

HOW MUCH?

The man down the street whose principal occupation is occupying the room sweating the fire belonging to another man, who made the remark this morning that he wondered how much the editor of the News was getting out of the state normal "fuss" is indeed a "sweet human" to contemplate.

A telephone from Guthrie this afternoon will carry a strong committee to the state capitol tomorrow. Next week will be the eventful period of the session in the public building determinations according to the present outlook.

The Evening News will issue a modest State Normal Sunday morning edition which will be read by each member of the Oklahoma legislature and the state administration.

The cause of the fire has not yet been ascertained, but the most popular theory is that it was caused by some defect in the electric wiring.

There is much speculation concerning the fact that a man should be burned to death in so small a house and on the ground floor. The room in which the couple slept was in the back of the house, but it has two windows but a foot or two from the ground. It appears probable that the man, who was not dressed and carried a portion of his clothing in his hand, stepped out into the hall and was overwhelmed and rendered unconscious by the flames and smoke.

One member of the legislature declares that another is an ass because the latter asked whether the other would stay hitched.

If there is any politics in the city of the dead, epitaphs are probably called campaign lies.

The Shoe Man

East Main Street, Ada, Okla.

Geo. Ade's political satire, "The County Chairman" which will be the attraction at Ada Opera House tonight is a picture not a caricature of the most comical his humor is in its lines and not in the make-up or eccentricities of any comedian. It abounds in epigrams and humorous sayings. Mr. Ade has woven a pretty love story into a most charming play —the story being full of interest and admirably told by a high accomplished company.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 29.—In conversation with C. W. Briles, Muskogee, city superintendent of public schools, and State Senator Harry Kiefer of Muskogee county, Scott McReynolds, the Hearst agent, under bond here, admitted that the picture brought from Muskogee yesterday, said to have been obtained from the rogue's gallery of Detroit, Mich.,
was on himself, but claimed that it had been especially prepared as a part of the conspiracy to discredit him.

It was marked "No. 63." He said nothing about the story attached to the picture, nor of the name "Mark Van Houghton," which is as that of the man who served the term at Detroit.

Chief Justice Furman.

Chief Justice of Oklahoma's criminal court of appeals, Henry M. Furman is home with family after an absence of two months, engaged principally on account of arduous duties and in part because of serious rheumatic trouble, necessitating him spending the holidays at Claremore under treatment.

The judge expresses himself as intensely interested in Ada's state normal undertaking for state normal, though he is frank to state, that the character of his official duties as well as the general state of the mind of the legislature, his influence for Ada has been limited.

The judge states appearances favor

THE NEW JERUSALEM PLAN

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 29.—If the legislature fails to pass a bill embodying the New Jerusalem scheme, it is the intention of Senator Campbell Russell, author of the idea, to have one initiated by the people. A concurrent resolution calling for a committee to draft the bill has passed the senate and is pending in the house. The senate has named its committee, and has in rough draft the bill to be proposed.

Senator Russell holds there is nothing in the enabling act or other place prohibiting the state from creating a state printing office and locating it where it pleases, so that the legislation will be made to specifically provide for such an institution. Reference is not made to the state capital, only as it would be included in the phrase, "other state institutions." It will be recalled that the capital was located by the enabling act at Guthrie until 1913.

The idea is to appoint a public improvement commission to select not less than two or more than four districts meeting requirements, and situated not more than fifty miles from the geographical center of the state. Two-year terms are to be served upon all of the land in the district. Any one who is interested will be distributed in printed form among the voters of the state. These plans are to be voted upon at the general election, and if a citizen has a tract he would like to enter, it is provided he may do so by filing a petition with the secretary of state and the corporation commissioner.

The district are to contain from sixteen to thirty-six sections of land, and appear on the election ballot in one, two, three order as determined by lot. The ballot will bear this statement:

"My choice for a New Jerusalem district in which shall be located the state printing plant and other public institutions which the people of Oklahoma may desire to locate therein."

The district receiving a majority of all the votes cast shall be the official New Jerusalem site for location of the state printing plant.
In case no site receives a majority of all the votes, the two receiving the highest will be submitted at a second election, and the site receiving the most votes in the second election will receive the designation.
Bonds will be authorized to pay for the land.

All public institutions provided for after passage of the act, which are designed to serve the people of the entire state, shall be located in the district, unless the legislature shall, for special reasons, set out in the act creating the same, deem best to locate elsewhere. This will not apply to Normal schools, district agricultural schools or other institutions that are intended to serve the people of one section of the state, nor to institutions already located.

Residence and business lots are to be sold by the public improvement commission, but before doing so shall make of record the class of buildings that will be permitted in the various sections.

Miss Darrell Cullins was the hostess of the Saturday afternoon club today.

FIRES IN OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, Jan. 29.—The Daily Oklahoman has the following to say of its appearance:

The Oklahoman has no apologies to make.

Scorched, battered, homeless and dormant it has come out on time.
After the most trying day in its history, its office flame-wrought plant reined, the spirit of the paper that won't quit and the kindness of its hosts of friends have made it possible for you to read the Oklahoman as usual this morning. Managed from the wreck of its building, edited in the Chamber of Commerce, reprinted at the plant of the News, the Oklahoman under harrowing difficulties is doing business very much as if the fire had been nothing but a bad dream.

Seven fires involving a total loss of approximately $140,000 and seven calls for the fire department—that was Oklahoma City's fire record

It made a tremendous boom in the fire insurance business. One agent reported that shortly after the his office. It also demonstrated bet-better fire apparatus is imperative.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed inflammation can be taken out and deafness is the result, and unless the tube is restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mu-

BY WIRELESS ELECTRICITY

New York, Jan. 29.—Demonstration of one of the greatest achievements thus far reached in aerial locomotion was given when Mark O. Anthony, a New York electrical engineer, sent a small dirigible balloon scudding about through the air by means of power, making it perform all sorts of evolutions and having the air craft at all time under perfect control. By actual performance, he demonstrated for the first time that the long sought for secret of propelling airships by wireless electricity has been discovered.

Sitting at a small electrical keyboard, such as is used in sending wireless messages, the inventor ticked off various combinations of dots and dashes, each combination causing the balloon to perform some particular movement. Sometime the operator placed his instrument directly under the balloon, and again would remove it 200 feet away. Distance had no effect upon the control and the response of the mechanism which operated the propellers was prompt and effective.

Distance Makes No Difference.

"With this small apparatus," he said, "I could control the balloon at a distance of twelve or fifteen miles, and with a more powerful apparatus the control could be extended to almost any distance."

Today's exhibition was given in Leo Stevens's balloon house, in Hoboken, N. J., a structure 400 to 700 feet in length and with sufficient beam to allow a satisfactory test of the "wireless dirigible."

Description of Craft.

The model now being used consists of an ordinary cigar-shaped gas bag twenty-two feet in length and inflated with hydrogen gas. Beneath that is suspended the common type of frame work used in all dirigibles, except that all of the mechanism is operated by wireless electricity. Instead of a gasoline motor, controlled by an operator sitting beside it.

In the ordinary dirigible balloon to control it are a propeller which sends it forward, and a rudder which governs its course. In Mr. Anthony's invention other devices are added. Besides the propeller and the rudder he has a second propeller directly beneath the center of the frame, which operates vertically and lifts or lowers the airship at the will of the operator. He also has added a mechanical device which at the call of a few dots and dashes releases a clutch which drops a small weight representing a charge of dynamite to be used in warfare.

During a two hours' trial today the inventor sat at his keyboard in one end of the building and caused the balloon to do everything that any one asked. After being inflated it was placed at an altitude of about fifteen feet from the floor, at one end of the long shed, and Mr. Anthony announced that he was ready for "sailing orders."

"Send it ahead," said one of the visitors.

Machine Is Started.

Mr. Anthony grasped the key and ticked off "dot, dot, dot, dash, dot, dot." Instantly there was a light whirling sound in the mechanism of the little airship, the propeller began to buzz, the balloon gave a little quiver and started forward. It moved forward precisely as if some tiny aeronaut were seated in the framework manipulating a motor. On it sped toward the opposite end of the

shed, when the order was given "Turn her around."

"Dash, dot, dot, dash, dot," sputtered the instrument under Anthony's fingers. The propeller quickly stopped, and as quickly began revolving in the opposite direction. The rudder swerved to one side and the airship, wobbling for a few seconds, regained its stability, turned gracefully about and was soon gliding back in the opposite direction.

Uses Compressed Air.

"The engine is so constructed that the amount of air consumed, after passing through the reducing valve, is small in comparison with any motor now on the market," said Mr. Anthony. "By using compressed air motors I do away with gas or other motors, now in common use, and get rid of the danger from heat and spark. In the model small batteries are used to operate the electric motors, whereas in the larger machine compressed air tanks will be used in place of batteries for motive power. The secret of the apparatus is in the sending and receiving of the Hertzian wave."

GALE EXTENDS OVER COUNTRY

Washington, Jan. 29.—In the grasp of a storm that is sweeping eastward with increasing severity and extent, is the condition of almost the entire country this side of the Eastern Rocky Mountain Slope. Rain, snow and sleet are falling and high winds and gales are blowing in all these States and shipping on the Atlantic Coast, all the way from New York to Jacksonville, and along the Mexican Gulf Coast, has been warned of the advancing storm, which is preceded by rising temperatures. A cold snap follows in the wake of the storm.

Dallas, Jan. 29.—In Dallas within two days, and up until last night, there were seventeen fire alarms. The total loss has been estimated at $19,850, confined to residences and barns. Four residences burned yesterday at Grand Saline. The flames spread because of the wind. The grain elevator at Bison, near Kingfisher, Ok., with a quantity of corn in cars on the railroad track, burned, causing a loss of about $25,000. In the Glenn oil pool, near Tulsa, Ok., the damage is probably $50,000, by reason of the wind's having leveled many derricks. The wall of a hotel was wrecked at Muskogee. Fifty derricks are down in the oil field near Keifer, Ok.

In the Texas Panhandle the sandstorm was terrific. So far as reports were received, in the face of the badly demoralized condition of wires in many sections, the gale was followed by a cold wave that embraces the entire Southwestern country from Kansas to Southern Texas and across to the Territory of New Mexico.

Tarrasa says that Barcelona has been overwhelmed by a tidal wave. The loss of life is unknown.

The subterranean roaring preceding the tidal wave caused a fearful panic among the people on the promenades and in the buildings of the city.

News from Malaga says that many houses were damaged in the town of Totana and several villages in the Province of Murcia.

Barcelona is the seaport capital of the province of Barcelona, situated on the Mediterranean, between the mouth of the Llobregat and Besos. The ancient Barcino, Barcello, said to have been founded or rebuilt by Hamilcar Barco and named for him.

It was called in the middle ages Barcinona, or Barchinona. It is the second city in Spain and one of the principal commercial places in the peninsula and a strong fortress. It has regular steam communication with the important ports of the world. It is the seat of a noted university founded in 1546. It was an important Roman and Gothic city and became the capital of the Spanish march.

A STORY OF HEROISM.

A curious incident occurred at the close of Dr. Torrey's first meeting in Los Angeles. He was preaching upon "Soul-winning," and closed the sermon with an account of the rescue of a man from the frozen Lake Michigan by Mr. Edward Spencer.

Said Mr. Torrey: "Twelve miles north of Chicago lies Evanston. At Evanston is the Northwestern University. Years ago, when the university was young—in fact, when it was simply a country college—two strong farmer boys from Iowa came to the college, Will and Edward Spencer. Ed. Spencer was a famous swimmer. One morning word came to the college that there was a wreck north of Evanston. The college boys, with the people of the town, hurried along the shore. When they reached the place they found planks and spars and other pieces of wreckage being driven ashore from the Lady Elgin, to which were clinging men and women.

"Edward Spencer threw off his coat and snuggly garments, tied a rope around his waist, threw an end to his comrades on the shore, jumped into the breakers and swam out. He grasped one who was struggling in the water, gave the signal and was brought to shore. Again and again he swam out, until he had brought a fifth, a sixth, a seventh, an eighth, a ninth, and a tenth safe to shore. He then seemed completely exhausted. His comrades had built a fire of logs on the shore, and he toiled to the fire and stood by it trying to get a little warmth into his perishing members.

"As he stood there he looked out again over the lake, and saw others struggling in the water. He said: 'Boys, I am going in again.' 'No, no, Ed.,' they cried, 'your strength is all gone. You cannot swim out again. You will only throw your own life away. It would be suicide.' 'I will try anyway, boys,' he cried, and again he sprang into the breakers, and swam out and grasped one that was drowning and brought him safe to shore. He brought an eleventh, a twelfth, a thirteenth, a fourteenth, and a fifteenth safe to shore. Then strength seemed all gone. He tottered once more to the fire, and stood there pale and trembling, and cold. It seemed as if the hand of death was already upon him. He could scarcely stand.

Looking out again over the water he saw a spar rising and falling upon the waves. Then he saw a man's head above the spar, and a woman's head beside the man's.

"He cried: 'Boys it is a man trying to save his wife. I'll help him.' 'No, no, Ed.,' they cried, 'you could never reach him.'"

"I will try," he cried, and again burst from the crowd and sprang into the awful breakers. Summoning his fast dying strength, he reached the spar, and placed his hands upon it and brought it around the point to a place of safety. He was then pulled through the breakers. Tender hands lifted him from the shore and carried him to his room in the college. They laid him upon his bed, and for a while he seemed to fall asleep.

His brother Will went over and sat down by the fire they had kindled in the grate. As he sat there thinking, suddenly he heard a gentle cough behind him and felt a touch upon his shoulder. Looking up he saw Ed. standing looking down into his face with wistful eyes. "Will," he said, "do you think I did my best?" "You saved seventeen," his brother replied. "I know it," he cried, "but I was afraid I did not do my very best."

"Will took him back and laid him on the bed once more. Through the night he tossed in semi-delirium, thinking only of those who had perished that day, for in spite of all his bravery and that of others many went down to a watery grave."

"There are wrecks everywhere. Men and women are going down. Let us cry in the earnestness of our love for lost souls: 'Oh, if I could only have saved just one more!'"

All over the Tabernacle, as Dr. Torrey concluded, people were in tears. Hundreds rose to their feet to dedicate themselves to the work of soul-winning. At that point, President Baer stepped up behind Dr. Torrey and whispered, "The man who sat next to me says Ed. Spencer is in the building at this moment."

Dr. Torrey at once stepped to the front of the platform, and said: "I am often asked what became of Ed. Spencer. He was a physical wreck. He had to give up his preparation for the ministry. He is now a resident of California, and I am told that he is in the building at this moment. If he is, will he please come to the platform?"

Mr. Cleveland, who had pointed him out to Dr. Baer, went to him where he sat near the platform, and he was immediately brought to Dr. Torrey's side. The whole audience sprang to their feet, burst into applause, and waved their handkerchiefs.

Mr. Spencer whispered to Dr. Torrey: "It is just forty eight years and two months today since it happened." The whole audience bowed in prayer, and Dr. Torrey asked that God would make Ed. Spencer's last days his best days. Mr. Spencer whispered, "He has."—London Christian.
